

Personal Power & Community Connections P2C2

Infused with hands-on activities, reflection and joy, P2C2 helps create common language, shared experiences and belief in our individual and collective ability to spark positive change in the world.

Components of the P2C2 program:

This program is customized to meet the needs of teams, and consists of in person and/or virtual meetings, customized retreats and coaching sessions. During the program, teams will engage in activities that explore topics such as community, belonging, identity, values and empathy. Through engaging hands-on activities, UP for Learning will support teams in analyzing data and action planning using their own school climate surveys in a process called Youth Participatory Action Research (YPAR).

Who Should Participate?

A representative team of upper elementary or middle school youth and adults who are interested in deepening their understanding of community and exploring how data analysis can be a tool for school transformation.

Logistics

School Team Cost: $7,500 (based on coaching model)
